PM Defends Power Pact

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

VERNON — The Canada-U.S. Columbia River treaty was vigorously defended Monday by both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton against charges it was a sellout of Canadian interests.

The charge was hurled at Diefenbaker by a heckler at a campaign rally here Monday night.

"The only sell-out is in the mind of the gentleman in the darkness over there," Diefenbaker retorted. "We have stood for Canadian interests. There will never be a sell-out as long as this government is in office."

The heckler shouted back: "You won't ratify the treaty."

The prime minister said the heckler was "in need of accurate information."

"I signed the treaty," he said, "after having been advised by the government of B.C. that its terms were acceptable. But in order to meet constitutional requirements there must be an agreement with the government of B.C. we are getting along in our negotiations."

"Our hope is that one of

DIEFENBAKER HERE TONIGHT

Local Conservatives were on the streets today soliciting an audience for tonight's Diefenbaker rally at Memorial Arena.

Loudspeaker trucks toured the downtown area announcing the meeting—which the Tories hope will be the "big" one of the federal election campaign in Victoria.

The prime minister was to arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 3 p.m. spend the early evening quietly at the Empress Hotel, and appear at the arena at 8:10 for his speech.

The first things the new parliament does is to proceed with ratification after reaching agreement with B.C.

Advantages Impossible Without Pact

In his statement at the meeting, Justice Minister Fulton said the treaty "brings tremendous advantages to Canada which we could not get without the treaty."

He made no direct reference to the charges by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, that Canada had been sold down the river under the treaty.

Fulton assured the audience

5,300 Cheer Pearson

(Special to the Times)

WINNIPEG—Fifty-three hundred shouting, whistling, trumpet-playing, sign-carrying Liberal supporters cheered their party leader, Lester B. Pearson, in the Winnipeg Auditorium Monday as he delivered the longest and most vigorous speech of the election campaign.

It was the biggest political meeting in Winnipeg's recent history.

The crowd helped hoot down hecklers who attempted to interrupt the Liberal leader, and a one point carried away the partition separating the main auditorium and the concert hall, so that 800 people seated in the hall could see at least the back of the main speaker.

Auditorium ushers said later they had to turn away several hundred people.

RIFUTES SNEARS

The prime minister was asked to answer a list of ten questions on Conservative policy and the program for the future.

Mr. Pearson said he had taken the precaution of sending, by registered mail, the same questions to Conservative headquarters, and asked for answers in the next two or three days. He said he was asking the questions because the prime minister had refused to debate with him on television.

The prime minister said he would not debate on television because he did not want to get me an audience," grinned Mr. Pearson, comparing his 5,300 supporters to the 4,200 the prime minister drew in the same auditorium last week.

QUESTIONS ASKED

"Well, someone got me an audience all right and it was not Mr. Diefenbaker—or was it?" he asked to a chorus of cheers.

Among the questions he put to the prime minister were: Does the prime minister agree Canada needs 1,000,000 new jobs in the next four years, and that these can't be secured if the present trends continue . . . ?

What is there in his second five-year plan that will create enough jobs, when his first five-year plan has failed to do so?

Is he satisfied when the average real income of Canadians is smaller than it was five years ago . . . ? When our share of world trade has declined . . . ? When our dollar is worth 92 cents . . . ?

Mr. Pearson asked for Conservative plans to rebuild confidence in the growth of oil.

SACRAMENTAL WINE CUT OFF

Communicants 'Gulped'

CORBY, England (Reuters) — An Anglican bishop censured the minister of Corby Parish Church in Northamptonshire Monday for accusing his parishioners of "gulping down communion wine."

The minister, Rev. Arthur Westcott, 65, refused to finish serving his 70 communicants with wine on Easter Sunday when, he said, they gulped down two full chalices before he reached the last communicant.

The bishop, the Rt. Rev. Cyril Eastaugh, after conducting communion himself at Corby, said Monday that Mr. Westcott's action in withholding communion had caused "grave hurt and distress." He denied that the congregation had finished off two chalices full.

Mr. Westcott retorted later: "I will not apologize. The excess consumption on Easter Sunday was an awful experience."

"I have been serving communion wine for 40 years, so I know what should be drunk."

There is no doubt that the 70 communicants took far more than they should."

AFTER BIG MONDAY CRASH

Stock Markets Rally Strongly

Canadian Exchanges Recover

TORONTO (CP)—Prices on stock exchanges in Toronto and Montreal bounded back smartly today in afternoon trading after earlier following a pattern of frantic selling prevalent during the last few days.

The 2 p.m. Toronto industrial index, compiled from 20 leading stocks, was down only a half point, to 557.46 after showing a 13.33 loss at 11 a.m. which was reduced to a loss of 10.65 at 1 p.m.

Blue chip stocks moved upward from their low prices of the day.

Best recovery was made by International Nickel which went ahead $3.87½ to $69.57½ after dropping as much as $1.50 to a low of $64.50.

TAPER CATCHES UP

The ticker tape, which had been running as much as 25 minutes behind in the morning selling, drew abreast of transactions.

Key issues turned around and steamed upward as abruptly as they had dropped off on the Montreal exchanges.

Although volume tapered off from the early hectic pace shortly before noon, trading remained heavy.

The noon volume at Toronto was 1,973,000 shares compared with 1,200,000 at the same time Monday.

Many issues were still lower, but almost all of them had recovered from the lows reached in the morning selling climax.

HIT NEW LOWS

Earlier, many key stocks hit new lows for the year.

Traders in Montreal described the activity on the trading floor as the most hectic in memory as senior issues took losses ranging from $3.50 to $1.25 a share.

Eric Kierans, president of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, said "there is absolutely no reason for a drastic decline in the price of Canadian stocks."

"We are entering a more competitive but still expansionist phase of our history. With appropriate government policies, business leadership in Canada can provide continuing growth which is the basis for sound stock values."

DISCOURAGE HOGS

It will discourage the camp hog, who in the past has set up his tent in an area and remained there for the summer, the province.

He said the main reason for the charge is to encourage campers to visit all parks in the province.

The charge will contribute a hefty boost to provincial revenues—although parks officials won't estimate how much.

Makes Plea

Vera Eichmann, her husband Adolf's appeal against his death sentence rejected, plans a plea to the Israeli president when he was announced by their son, Klaus, in Buenos Aires today. Executive clemency is the only thing now that can save Eichmann from the gallows. (See story, page 3.)

Centennial Flashback . . .

SOVIETS VIEW CRASH AS BLOW AT WORKERS

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass said today the stock crash in New York had "assumed catastrophic proportions."

"President Kennedy and his advisers would like to arrest the crash but they do not know how to do this," said a Tass dispatch from New York.

The report accused "certain circles" in the United States of "trying to use the stock market situation as a pretext for a new onslaught on the rights of the working class."

Bargain Hunters Help Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market partially recovered late this afternoon from the worst plunge since 1929.

But whether it could press the comeback further was anybody's guess. Heavy trading and an extremely late tape made it difficult to chart the market's progress.

Today's volume of selling exceeded anything in Wall Street history to date. Nearing the close of trading it was estimated that the day's turnover would be 12,000,000 shares compared with 9,550,000 on Monday.

Signs of recovery started popping up shortly after noon.

Later this afternoon badly battered International Business Machines held a $26 gain for the day. American Telephone turned a $2.12 loss into a $6.37 advance. Du Pont added $7.50, Polaroid $4.56, Sears Roebuck $4.12 and Jersey Standard $4.62.

BUYERS SEEK BARGAINS

Bargain hunters appeared to have started buying the badly depressed blue chips.

Trading volume soared to record heights and the ticker tape fell 96 minutes behind transactions.

IBM opened late in the afternoon in a $10,950,000 block, one of the largest within the memory of Wall Street veterans. The transaction involved a block of 30,000 shares at $365 a share, up $4 from Monday's close.

The trade, which came nearly four hours after dealing for the day began on the exchange, was delayed to permit matching of a flood of buy and sell orders.

Earlier almost the entire field of prices had melted rapidly as selling ballooned beyond the massive volume of Monday—highest in 29 years.

The panicky desire to get rid of stocks swept across the United States, ignoring all accounts of good business.

Commerce Secretary Hodges urged the U.S. government to take "positive action rather than words" to restore confidence.

SEEKS TAX CHANGE

He proposed a tax overhaul and an early announcement of a revision of depreciation schedules.

In Washington, Treasury Secretary Dillon said after a conference with President Kennedy that "we don't see any reason for panic selling in the stock market."

Dillon told reporters he hopes small investors will realize that the economy is "very sound."

Eichmann Appeal Rejected

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's Supreme Court today rejected Adolf Eichmann's appeal from his death sentence, calling even that penalty inadequate when compared to the enormity of his crimes.

"For who can have envisaged a criminal greater than Adolf Eichmann?" the high tribunal asked in confirming the sentence imposed on the former Gestapo officer by a lower court last December.

The decision left Eichmann only the slender chance of executive clemency to escape the gallows for his part in the Nazi massacre of 6,000,000 European Jews. That process may take another month.

The judgment rejected Eichmann's claim that he was a mere cog in the Nazi murder apparatus, saying:

"The appellant was not an inferior official, but indeed a high—even an exalted—authority who held sway not only in Germany, but far beyond its confines."

HAD NO EQUAL

"He overshadowed all his associates in his department, including his chiefs, for there was no equal to the appellant in fanatical devotion to the machine designed to carry out the horrible 'final solution.'"

Eichmann, 56, still wearing the dark suit and striped tie he wore throughout his 4½-month trial last year, stared fixedly at the five judges as their judgment was delivered.

'Strongman' Takes Off

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States today neared an open break with Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, strongman of the pro-Western royal Laos government, because he left for a goodwill mission to the Philippines at a critical juncture in Laotian affairs.

U.S. officials said Phoumi's action came despite strong warnings that the United States considers a resumption of coalition talks of major importance.

Annual Ride Planned by Horsemen

The 100-mile centennial trail ride — biggest ever staged in this area — was a galloping success.

So much so, that it will become an annual event, said Gerald Aitken, president of the sponsoring Garden City Horsemen's Club, Monday night.

Still flushed with the pride of a civic greeting and presentation at City Hall after completing the ride, the group whooped it up at a wind-up dance Monday night in Saanichton Hall.

Mr. Aitken unveiled at the dance a brass tray, inscribed with the city's crest which had been presented earlier to the club by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow on behalf of Mayor R. B. Wilson and city council.

The presentation took place before most of the riders, who paraded down Douglas Street, and groups of interested onlookers.

Ald. Edgelow, Ald. M. H. Mooney and Ald. J. L. W. McLeay turned out in their centennial top hats and bow ties to greet the riders and congratulate them.

Ald. Mooney exhibited his

B.C. NOT YET 'DEBT FREE,' SAYS SOCREC

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Social Credit candidate said Monday night British Columbia isn't debt free yet.

William Lennox, candidate in Vancouver-Burrard was replying to a heckler at a political forum for all candidates.

The heckler said: "Social Credit is in power in British Columbia—and if it's debt-free why doesn't the provincial government solve all our problems like unemployment?"

When Mr. Lennox replied, the heckler shouted: "I thought Bennett had shot a flaming arrow into the last of our debt in 1960."

"Well," added Mr. Lennox, "we decreased the provincial debt."

'Moon Rocket' Tested

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The giant F1 rocket engine, scheduled to power manned flights to the moon, was fired for the first time at full power Saturday.

At the dance, Mr. Aitken and ride committee chairman Roy Jewell presented commemorative scrolls to each of the participants—and even gave one to "Pierre," a young poodle who accompanied the cook truck and became the camp pet.

Impartial Judgment

ANYONE WHO VENTURES TO doubt that Canada's economic prospects are as good as the government says they are must expect to be denounced as disloyal to his country. He is a prophet of Gloom and Doom, hardly better than a saboteur. Even worse, he may be a critic of the Diefenbaker government. Such is the occupational hazard of an election campaign.

What are the true facts of our national situation? They are unlikely to be found in the fierce partisanship of a political campaign, but we can call on an impartial judgment. The stock market, for instance. It is not concerned with the fate of any political party. The men who buy and sell there are using their own money and are concerned with it only. They buy or sell as they consider the business prospects encouraging or discouraging.

Making its impartial judgment, and deaf to the shouts of the hustings, the stock market has re-appraised the situation by one of the deepest plunges since the last war. One can only hope that the market is wrong but no one can say that it is prejudiced.

Another unprejudiced and well informed source is The Financial Post, Canada's leading newspaper of business. Or if The Post has any prejudices they favor the Conservative Party.

Britain's New Liberal Look

THE BRITISH LIBERAL Party's spectacular gains in recent highly significant municipal elections, coupled with distinguished showings in important by-elections, have naturally raised Liberal spirits in England.

The revived optimism, however, is tempered by a realistic assessment of those gains by Liberal stalwarts, particularly Mr. Jo Grimond, the party leader. They face and acknowledge certain facts.

One of them centres on membership in the British House of Commons. The Liberals hold six seats there, compared to 363 Conservatives and 255 Laborites. Moreover, the Liberals have nothing like the funds of the other parties with which to finance their cause. Nor have they unqualified support from substantial press, radio or television interests. Beyond this, because the party has been out of office for so many years, its "shadow cabinet" is not, at the moment, well-known.

Mr. Grimond recognizes these facts, but he is not daunted by them. Competent as many consider him, he harbors no personal ambitions to become Prime Minister. His hope is to bring the Liberal party along, during the next five to 20 years, into a position where it might form a government. However long the period, he sees the opportunity to make the Liberals more influential in the management of the country.

While he is leader, Mr. Grimond says his party will never go to the right. If it achieves up to 25 seats in the next election and is in

This reliable publication has made its own survey of the prospects and reaches an interesting conclusion:

"Evidence is mounting that the current Canadian expansion has only about another nine months of life left in it. This is the growing expectation despite the fact production is rising, profits are gaining and employment is at a new record for springtime."

"If, in fact, business activity reaches a crest by year-end and begins a gentle decline with the beginning of 1963, the present period of expansion will be as long as three years long—a repetition of the shorter-than-usual rise of 1958-59."

Most ominous portent for business planners in the persistent weakness of the stock market in recent weeks. In the past a substantial decline in stock prices has usually foreshadowed by several months the beginning of a new recession."

Yet Mr. Diefenbaker and his ministers tell us that all is well, that anyone who doubts it is a prophet of Gloom and Doom, lacking confidence in the nation. Actually, such a man may only lack confidence in the government, a very different matter. But that obvious distinction is usually shouted down from the hustings.

a position to sway the balance of power, its affinity will be more for Labor than for the Conservatives.

He favors a parliamentary party division between progressives and conservatives—a two-party government—in which he believes Liberalism will become increasingly representative of the bulk of the population. The middle-class is growing, he points out, and its views, he believes, can best be expressed through his political philosophy.

Without defining a hard and fast policy Mr. Grimond has set out certain general principles.

He thinks the days of the supreme sovereign state are over and that Britain should integrate with Europe economically and politically.

He is against independent nuclear weapons and in favor of strengthening conventional NATO defenses.

He is convinced of the folly of industry operating in a continual dog-fight between capital and labor and calls for a new status for labor in industry, with decentralization of industrial power and with the economy geared to expansion. And he agrees with the Liberal concept that massive new effort must be made to rid Britain of class distinctions.

These are not the views of a starry-eyed optimist. Mr. Grimond takes an undistorted look at trends and conditions. His leadership unquestionably has been a major factor in the Liberal revival, but he does not regard that revival in terms of immediate assumption of power.

No Dollars, No Trade

THE SUGAR-COATING appears to have melted from Canada's trade with Cuba.

In 1961 Canada sold about $31,104,000 worth of goods to Mr. Castro's country—about double the amount of each of the preceding two years. In recent months, sales have almost dried up—and for a simple reason. Cuba is short of dollars.

Conceivably the trade could be stimulated if the Soviet Union made available more hard currency to Cuba. Unless that happens, a purely commercial transaction which caused some strained feelings between Canada and the United States may be at an end.

A Clear Victory for the Elephants

MR. FLEMING came into office resolved to ease the burdens on a nation which was, he felt, grievously overtaxed. Ease them he did in 1957 by changes estimated to reduce the revenue by $178 millions in a full year. This largesse, unfortunately, was at the expense of a balanced budget.

In the unhappy anti-climax of 1959, the minister had therefore to increase taxes by $352 millions. There were then only minor alterations until last June when he sought to stimulate business with concessions of $100 millions. Another $54 millions were lopped off in the pre-election budget so that Mr. Fleming, by this accounting, was back virtually to the point from which he had started five years ago with such brave hopes.

There is, however, another and simpler way of making comparisons which has the additional merit that Mr. Fleming favored it himself until he became custodian of the treasury. One has only to measure total tax receipts for the various years, which are as follows (millions of dollars):

	1957	1958	1959	1960	1961	1962 est.
	$4,647.9	4,622.8	4,247.4	4,752.3	5,013.8	5,157.0
	1957-58	1958-59	1959-60	1960-61	1961-62	1962-63 est.
	$38	5,364.0	5,702.9	5,958.1	6,563.4

While in opposition Mr. Fleming looked with keen disfavor on the federal sales tax. In 1957-58 this iniquitous levy yielded $703.2 million. In every subsequent year, except 1958-59, he has reaped more, instead of less, revenue from this source—about $70 millions more in 1961-62 according to the budget papers. The yield from excise tax has also shown a modest increase despite the elimination of excise on automobiles.

Tax reduction would have been a much more practical proposition if the Conservatives had been able to locate the $500 millions of waste that flickered on TV screens in 1957. But after 1958 the will o' the wisp vanished. Here is the record of budgetary expenditures (millions of dollars):

	1957-58	1958-59	1959-60	1960-61	1961-62	1962-63 est.
	$3,087.4	5,364.0	5,702.9	5,958.1	6,563.4
	1957-58	1958-59	1959-60	1960-61	1961-62	1962-63 est.
	$38	5,364.0	5,702.9	5,958.1	6,563.4

In his latest burst of confidence, Mr. Fleming has predicted a reduction—of $38 millions—this year. This may be compared with the enormous increase shown in the table above—$1,476 millions.

"Elephantiasis" had been Mr. Fleming's diagnosis of Liberal administration. In 1957, he announced encouraging progress towards a cure. In 1958, somewhat discouraged, he appealed to Parliament for assistance in his search for remedies. But despite everything, the elephants have continued to multiply.

The problem, so baffling to government and Parliament, has now been turned over, not too hopefully, to the Glassco royal commission.

It should be noted in fairness that, when Mr. Fleming complained of excessive spending, his thought was that the government was spending too much on the wrong things. With more careful housekeeping there should, he felt, be more to spend wisely on worthwhile developments.

But administration—the cost of bureaucracy—has not become cheaper. For most departments the budget papers report a separate item, "Administration and General." The comparisons are as follows (millions of dollars):

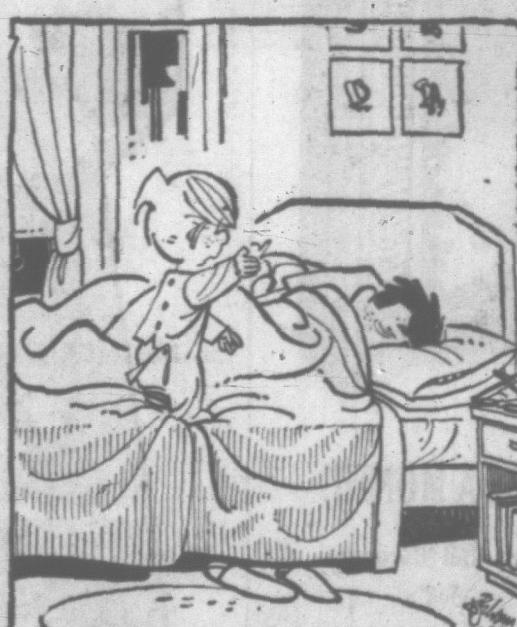

Department	1957-58	1961-62 (est.)
Agriculture	$ 2.6	$ 5.2
Citizenship and Immigration	1.9	2.6
Defence Production	20.2	22.4
Defence	19.8	24.0
Finance	7.6	19.6
Health and Welfare	4.5	6.3
Mines and Technical Surveys	2.2	5.1
External	6.5	8.9
Northern Affairs	.9	3.9
Post Office	1.9	2.1
Trade and Commerce	4.4	6.7
Transport	3.7	5.8
Public Works	7.3	13.3
Veteran Affairs	6.2	6.9
Totals for these departments	$79.7	$134.8

The increase is $55.1 millions. As this accounting does not embrace all the departments or touch the crown corporations and agencies, it is evident that higher costs have wiped out the savings claimed by Mr. Fleming in his 1957 statement.

There is, however, no point in laboring the argument because the minister has conceded it. In his most recent budget address, he justified his stewardship with a quite different contention. The civil service has increased since 1957 by

May 29, 1962 — Fernie: Rapid decomposition of 109 bodies so far recovered from the Coal Creek mines necessitated their immediate burial by lantern light in a common grave.

May 29, 1922 — Ottawa: A delegation of confectioners arrived here today to oppose the new five per cent tax on chocolates and candy.

May 29, 1942 — West Point: An American invasion of the European continent was promised by Gen. George C. Marshall, U.S. Army Chief of Staff at graduating ceremonies here today.

Most Spaniards today are tired of their isolation. The fact and the idea of Europe suddenly looks inviting. The request of the Spanish Government to open negotiations for an associate membership of the Common Market was met, in February, by a barely courteous acknowledgement.

Spain would again be a member of the European family and most intelligent Spaniards realize that she would not be welcome in her present garments.

The strikes are not rebellion. They are genuinely economic in origin. But they do represent an unexpressed demand for rights enjoyed by other workers. The interest they have evoked over the mountains is a proper recognition of their significance.

The support accorded by a part of the Church is a sign that the more liberal clerics recognize that time is not on their side. The comparatively gentle reaction to the police and the Government is evidence of profound change in the face of internal pressure. Very few in Spain want revolution. Almost all are hungry for change.

Socialist Doctrine Has Become Largely Irrelevant... a Generation Out of Date

IN my view, in the past year or so the world balance of forces has, I venture to say, become rather more favorable to the Western community. I know from my newspaper experience how risky it is to be optimistic, and I know that the prudent man who wishes to play it safe will always lean to Cassandra, never to Polyanna. For if Cassandra is right, which I am sorry to say is all too frequently, the man becomes without any trouble at all a true prophet. If, on the other hand, Cassandra is wrong, everyone is too well pleased to remember what he said.

Nevertheless, in the historic confrontation between international communism and the Western society our position is, I believe, improved.

I could provide you with plenty of gloom about what lies ahead in South America, in Africa, and perhaps in South Asia. And in regard to the problems of the less developed, emerging nations I make no concessions at all to Polyanna.

But what seems to me to have become better is the relationships of power between the two great centres of power on this planet, and quite briefly and of course by simplifying much I shall try to tell you why I think so.

I shall be so rash as to say that primarily and fundamentally, the balance of military power is now very considerably in our favor.

Indeed I am told by those whose expertise I most respect that the West, and at the centre of it the United States, is now much stronger than the Soviet Union, unless the Soviet Union achieves a great scientific breakthrough.

In the next series of nuclear tests—for example an anti-missile or a bomb of decisive size which cannot be repelled. But for such developments our lead in the race of armaments can be called decided.

To be sure, we cannot be absolutely certain of this. There may, for example, be undisclosed political weaknesses in the West. Most certainly our military strength is the very last thing to talk about boastfully. I have hesitated a long time whether it is proper to talk about it at all.

I would be tempting the gods to boast of it, and in fact it should be talked about only with the greatest reserve and humility. But I am speaking of it because it is now the controlling fact in the world situation, and must therefore be known to those who form opinions. If they are to understand the world situation today,

Herewith is an excerpt from an important address delivered by WALTER LIPPMANN to the American Law Institute in Washington, D.C.

At the moment the test negotiations are deadlocked. Mr. Khrushchev is listening to Russian scientists who believe that a breakthrough is possible, and Mr. Kennedy cannot overrule the American scientists who tell him that a Russian breakthrough is not impossible.

In the meantime, there are strong indications that Soviet foreign policy is slowly adjusting itself to the realities of nuclear power. I am thinking particularly about Berlin and about Southeast Asia.

One might say that in the field of nuclear danger both Berlin and Southeast Asia have to a very considerable degree been defused. Neither side is ready to face the risks of pushing the other into a dead end street from which there is no exit except by a humiliating surrender or a suicidal war.

I ascribe this improvement to SAINST JOHN, N.B. — The people who cling to the rocky slopes of this promontory jutting into the Bay of Fundy marked Loyalty Day the other day. That's the anniversary of the landing in 1783 of Tories who had been run out of the 13 colonies by George Washington's bully boys.

These Tory DPs laid a solid Tory foundation for the constituency of Saint John-Albert. So solid that it would take a political tide comparable to that of old Fundy itself to stop Tory candidate Tom Bell from winning a trip back to the House of Commons.

The only Liberal in recent political history who had such a tide is a gay, loveable Irishman named Danny Riley. He was defeated in 1953; and declined the Liberal nomination this year. Officially the reason was the pressure of his legal work. But just as easily it could be Riley's measure of Liberal chances here.

However, Bell won't get an acclamation. The Liberal candidate is an energetic young entrepreneur named George Urquhart who's nothing if not game.

Another politically interesting fact here is the failure of the splinter parties to make any real impression. This is a seaport and no sign of swinging to the New Democrats.

Then too, close to a fifth of the population is Acadian, the result of an influx that started during the war. But I'm told that the Social Credit Union des Electeurs which is causing the Liberals some anxiety in Quebec is a negligible factor here and elsewhere in New Brunswick. The Acadians may be less easily led from their traditional Liberal partisanship than their cousins, the French-Canadians.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

The Texas Name-Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A number of my colleagues, who lack the advantage of having been born in Texas, have come to me for clarification of the Billie Sol Estes case.

It is not so much that they are confused by the complexities of his grain storage and cotton acreage operations. Anyone in Washington can find more complex things than that to be confused by.

What puzzles them is how Estes came to get a name like Billie Sol.

Some have suggested that his affairs would never have attracted so much public attention if he had been christened Mortimer, or Outer-Bridge, or something of that sort.

Such an assumption implies that Billie Sol is an unusual name, which, of course, it isn't. At least, not in Texas.

If it is regarded as a curiosity in the other 49 states, that is because the other states are somewhat provincial.

Estes and I are native of the same region, and to me his name sounds as commonplace as mine would to him. We are both products of a custom which I regard as wonderfully logical.

It takes cognizance of the fact that if you name a boy Robert, Alan, Joseph, Thomas, James, Samuel, Albert, Ernest,

The Texas Name-Game

Philip, Henry, Kenneth, Edward, Michael, Benjamin or Stephen, he will likely be called something else.

So why not just name him Bob, Al, Joe, Tom, Jim, Sam; Ernie, Phil, Hank, Ken, Ed, Mike, Ben or Steve and be done with it?

Since the woods already are full of Bobs, Toms, Jims, etc., some parents take the next logical step and give their sons double names to aid in identification.

My own parents decided a single name would suffice, but I grew up with an assortment of Bobby Toms, Billy Bobs, Jimmy Jacks, Sam Jacks and Tommy Rays.

As for Billie Sol, if I am not mistaken he is the nephew and namesake of a doctor whose first name was Sol.

The only drawback to this system of nomenclature is that if you ever move to some less enlightened area, you're in trouble.

I have spent a goodly part of my adult life explaining to credit offices and tax investigators that my name isn't my nickname. But they still seem to think that I am trying to pull a fast one.

My other difficulty is with people who arbitrarily change my name to what they think it ought to be. This has required a lot of straightening out over the years.

Texans who have these simplified names will find that life is much easier if they (1) stay in Texas and (2) stay out of the fertilizer business.

Be Ruthless! It Pays Off

Readers who are growing strawberries from seed for the first time have now reached the what-to-do stage.

For the uninitiated, these seed-grown kinds are selections from the superbly flavored wild alpine strawberry under such names as Baron Solemacher, Mont Rosa, and so forth.

Seed was sown in late January and the plants are now jostling each other to make room for their six or seven leaves. The next step will be to set the plants into a prepared bed outdoors.

Jack

The soil should be well prepared, that is, broken reasonably fine, and some humus or peat moss added to hold moisture and give a loose soil for the young roots. Fertilizer is not needed for strawberries.

Six inches apart each way will be ample spacing for the present, and the next job will be the removal of all blossoms until the plants are well established, which should be around the end of July.

After Aug. 1, it is allowed to form and then comes the thrill of tasting, comparing habit of growth and fruiting, also the discarding of those plants giving poor flavored fruits or no fruits at all, those which produce runners (they never fruit well), and those which fail to hold their fruit well above the foliage.

This removal of unsuitable plants is called rousing, a job that must be done ruthlessly to most perennial plants grown from seed.

The survivors may be few or many, but they will be the pick of the sowing, and these plants will go into the permanent bed at a 12-inch spacing in rows 18 to 24 inches apart. Early spring would be best for this job as it avoids frost heaving over the first winter.

After two years, the plants can be divided to increase the stock, for these alpines produce a number of separate crowns and a large plant, when lifted and cleaned of soil, falls apart into six to 12 new plants which can be replanted.

PARNELLI JONES THE MAN TO BEAT . . .

REAR-ENGINE BUICK LURES SIGHTSEERS

Fastest Indianapolis 500 in History Seems Certain

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The fastest 500-mile auto race in history appears certain Wednesday in the wake of Monday's blazing carburation tests in which all except one, 33 starters roared around the speedway strip in an 11th-hour shakedown.

The yellow caution light flashed twice, but beyond the 462-foot broadside skid by Gene Hartley as his engine blew, the three-hour prep for the Memorial Day classic was without serious mishap.

Hartley was shaken up a bit and traffic was halted for 20 minutes after the Indianapolis driver deliberately spun his Drewry's Special on the northwest turn.

The only car which failed to make a test run was the Polyair Special driven by Eddie Johnson of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. Johnson's car developed clutch trouble and never left the pits.

Pole driver Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., who set a speedway qualifying record of 150.370 m.p.h., again demonstrated he is definitely the man to beat. He streaked five laps at a 149.5 average during the 20-lap test of his Agajanian Special.

Parnelli's pit crew came up with stops of 20, 21 and 20 seconds and the 28-year-old driver was all smiles when he finished. "I wasn't pushing because we were running on old tires," Jones said.

The 500-mile record is 139.130 miles per hour set by A. J. Foyt in winning last year's race.

Roger Ward, the 1959 winner, and Bobby Marshman of Pottstown, Pa., who will round out the first row with Jones in Wednesday's race, also were whizzing Monday. Ward had several laps at 149 plus, while Marshman did 11 laps at 147.

A modified Buick Special V8, driven by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., was the object of most sightseers in the pit area. The only rear-engined car in the race, this Thompson Harvey Aluminum Special did four laps at 141.0 m.p.h.

Most of the cars turned in between 20 and 25 laps, their drivers concentrating on pit-stop practice.

The yellow light flashed briefly a second time when the car of Jim McGreath, inside man in the third row in Wednesday's race, began spewing liquid. The Arlington, Texas, driver thought it might be fuel, but it proved to be water from his radiator.

Immediately after the tests Harlan Fenger, chief steward, called an extraordinary meeting of the drivers to emphasize the yellow flag rule. This requires all drivers to slow to "reasonable, constant speed" and maintain single file with violators being penalized one lap.

Today, Fenger held a formal briefing of the 33 drivers, reviewing all rules of conduct for the mad 200-lap marathon which will pack more than 200,000 spectators into the sprawling speedway plant.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

They didn't announce the attendance at the Western Speedway car races Saturday, which was a pity. Five of the clan who dine daily at this wage-earner's table were present, accounting for a bigger than usual house and contributing their share of din.

Getting the cook dinner was no small feat. She labors under the impression that people drive cars around an oval at high speeds, a little loose in the nuts and bolts department.

A survey of the premises showed that not all members of the weaker-sex agree with her. Except for the pits—strictly a "no-woman's land"—the place was heavily dotted with females, many of them heavily dotted with Max Factor and other beauty aids.

As one who enjoys studying the patrons as much if not more than the competitors, my eye was caught by a bit of fluff attired in black shoes, white socks, black tuxedo pants, white blouse, black sweater, white jacket and coal-black hair which looked like a mop hung upside down.

Just as I was considering the motivations which prompted her attendance, my attention was diverted by a solid left elbow to the ribs.

"The car races, remember?" said the cook. "That's what we came for."

A Cold Trophy—A Warm Kiss

They had just run off the trophy dash, a four-lap game of Russian roulette on wheels involving the four fastest cars. All the entrants survived—in itself a departure from the norm—and the winner proved to be a William Smith.

He wheeled his yellow noisemaker to the finish line with a flourish. Stepping out he was greeted by a blonde vision in high heels who handed him a cold trophy and a warm kiss. This is a regular part of the program and one which draws a mixed reaction from passenger-car jockeys in the crowd.

"Comb your hair, you lout," shouted one.

When Mr. Smith was all thumbs as he attempted to pin a corsage on the doll, he was serenaded with "Fumble-fingers."

Having completed his pin-up job, Smith began to walk away. One last disgruntled customer bade him au revoir with, "Watch him goof the next one."

Whether "big mouth" was psychic or not will never be known. But as a cover of mechanics crawled like ants over Smith's motor, it became apparent that it had given up the ghost. Announcer Bing Foster confirmed it. "The No. 16 car," he said, "has blown its motor."

Subsequently there were a number of stocker heats in which the slowest cars kept turning up like bad coins, trying to foist their way into the 50-lap main event by the cunning and devilment of their drivers.

Take the Car With You, Please

A divertissement of sorts occurred in a routine heat. The pole car traditionally sets the pace in the warm-up lap, while the rest of the field settles into place like sheep following their leader.

In this event, car No. 18, guided by a Harry Lawson, literally crawled around the asphalt, causing starter Phil Hendry to gnash his bicuspids and announcer Foster to say: "The pole car has the right to set the pace but it is customary for the driver to take the car with him."

Lawson got the message and the field finally blasted off. When they finished, Lawson still hadn't overcome his prerace affliction of "the slows."

To spice up the program, track officials came up with an event called the Australian race for modified sportsmen.

These cars have fewer appurtenances than stockers. But they contain large horsepower pots and drivers who like to curl your hair:

Four of them were spotted at equal distances apart. The idea was that as a car was passed he would drop out. When only one car remained the race would be over.

They played the game for eight or nine laps before giving it up when it appeared that they could go well into Sunday before a single car was passed.

Commenting on the event, announced Foster, who does not lean too heavily on formality, quipped: "That race was a heluva good idea. Too bad it didn't work."

Free Blood Baths Any Rush Hour

When they were called for the 50-lap Roy White Memorial main event ("Memorial is an apt name for it," said the cook. "When they finish this they may all need a memorial"), 16 cars belched and burped in unison.

Suddenly a 17th fell into line. The Bill, Smith car, given a shot of adrenalain and a couple of spark plugs, apparently was ready for combat.

"This is like the Indianapolis 500, only smaller and slower," I remarked to the cook.

"Really?" she said. "And are there any survivors or is that ambulance at the first turn just for kicks?"

As it happens there were survivors—10 in all. A red and white job, owned and driven by a Nibs Anderson of Nanaimo won it. Of the seven who failed to last, two flipped and one misjudged a corner. When last seen he was heading for the Strait and the Swiftsure.

Next Saturday they plan a real coronary thrombosis inducer—the Destruction Derby. Everything is legal except head-on collisions.

Lovers of blood baths will probably be present in large numbers. The poor fools. They can see the same thing any rush hour at the Roundabout.

For free, too.

Ref Says Arch Won It But Willie Gets Draw

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Archie Lee Grossman and Dick Young Moore, a bulgy 20½, chased young Willie Pastrano, 185, throughout their 10-round fight Monday night and had to settle for a draw in a split decision before a disappointing 3,000 or more in the Sports Arena.

The decision came as a surprise to most of the crowd and stunned Moore, who was confident he had scored a decisive victory.

Referee Tommy Hart, under the California scoring system, gave the San Diego veteran five points and the 26-year-old Miami, Fla., battler four. Judges scored it 5-5 each.

"Archie won the fight, Pas- trano was doing all the holding," said Hart, who seemed surprised at the draw decision.

There were no knockdowns and the only damage was to Pastrano's bruised left eye.

Moore, who is at least 20 years older than Pastrano, broke into a lively shadow boxing performance while awaiting the verdict. He even playfully sparred with the obviously tired younger man.

Then Archie's jaw dropped when the officials' announcement was read.

the Memorial Day classic was without serious mishap.

Chisox, Bucs Like Those 'Old Geezers'

By UPI

Those young speedballers are okay, but Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates will take "old geezers" like Early Wynn and Harvey Haddix.

They're a pair of old-fashioned pitchers—with a variety of pitches, good control and the ability to go nine innings.

Both demonstrated Monday night that they're not yet ready for that old rocking chair as the White Sox whipped Cleveland Indians, 2-0, and the Pirates defeated St. Louis Cardinals, 3-1.

Wynn, 42, pitched a three-hitter to post his third victory of the season and the 25th of his major league career while Haddix, 36, scored his fourth win of the year with a six-hit effort in addition to contributing three hits to the Pirates' 10-hit attack.

47th SHUTOUT

Wynn, needing only five more victories to join the ultra-exclusive circle of 300-game winners, pitched the 47th shutout of his career to hand eighth-game winner Dick Donovan of the Indians his first loss.

Wynn didn't walk a batter, struck out six and retired 17 men in order during one stretch.

Wynn also singled in the White Sox' second run of the game in the seventh inning.

HADDIX HITS, TOO

Haddix walked only two batters, struck out six and his two singles and a triple led the Pirates to their seventh win in nine games. At one stretch, Haddix retired 12 batters in a row and he didn't allow the Cardinals' first hit until the fifth.

Boston Red Sox defeated Minnesota Twins, 3-0. Detroit Tigers downed Baltimore Orioles, 5-1, and Los Angeles Angels beat Washington Senators, 6-4, in other American League games. Cincinnati Reds beat Houston Colts, 9-6, and Chicago Cubs topped Milwaukee Braves, 2-1, in the other National League games.

TEE TOPICS

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It's impossible to avoid rumors. They saturate our conversations as regularly as ether controls hospital corridors and waiting rooms. And rumors, like ether, can be nauseating at times.

Cedar Hill Golf Club members found one to be that way. It was the rumor, drifting in while Lyle Barnes was busy working on another lease, that suggested the public course was destined to fall into the hands of subdividers and contractors.

It's not that I detest realtors or land investors. It's just that I don't like the things they do to some of our lands.

Conversations Tuesday with Lyle and Miss Kate McRae, trustee for the estate that owns the golf course lands, were as refreshing as a gentle evening breeze rustling through an orchard at blossom time.

It is apparent that Cedar Hill will avoid "modern development" that sometimes is mistakenly accused of being "progress."

For five more years.

Barnes, who at 37 is the same age as the golf course he runs, naturally would have preferred a longer-term lease.

"I'd love to build a big clubhouse on the hill," he said, pointing towards Derby Road. "But you can't do that on a five-year lease. We've outgrown this place," Lyle said of the little room that serves as a general office, coffee shop, locker room and pro shop.

No plush country club, but Lyle is happy with what he has. That includes his lease and 12-year-old association with the McRae family.

Nobody knows, without delving into land records, exactly how much land is taken up by the golf course. Barnes' land totals about 100 acres. That is about 10 more than Victoria Golf Club has, and 20 fewer than what is normally required for a regulation course.

At present, Cedar Hill is a short-hitter's dream: Nine par threes, nine fours; 4,055 yards; par 32-31-63.

Next year it will be a par 66 course. Barnes has already commenced clearing some land that would change the eighth and ninth holes (both par threes now) into a par four and five, respectively.

An extra 550 yards are to be tacked onto the course.

Although yearly membership now totals about 200, Cedar Hill is still a green-fee players' course. On weekends, they start out at dawn and the last ones are guided to the 18th by flashlight.

It's the only public 18-hole course in the Greater Victoria area and it's refreshing to know that it will serve the green-fee players for five more years, at least . . .

After last week's one-sided (8-1) victory over Colwood, attention focuses on Uplands' team as Inter-Club League factions prepare to step out for Wednesday's second matches.

It's Uplands at Victoria and Gorge Vale at Colwood.

Uplands, which finished last in 1961, can pile up more points at the expense of Oak Bay, then the gang which operates out of the heart of Mortgage Heights will be hard to stop. Oak Bay, a 54 winner over Gorge last week, lost some of its power when Ron MacLeod left at the weekend for his pro shop at Jasper Park.

Here's how they tee off Wednesday:

UPLANDS AT VICTORIA CLUB

8:30—Pellow and Lawson (D) vs. Carroll and Chappell (V).
8:42—Boggs and Hunt (U) vs. Horner and Munro (V).

GORGE VALE AT ROYAL COLWOOD

8:30—Walsham and Donaldson (GV) vs. Kerr and Painter (RC).

8:36—Merriman and Panthorpe (GV) vs. Andrews and D. Ross (RC).

SHORT CHIPS: Ernie Watt and Glen Coffey of Victoria Club snapped the Uplands-Colwood domination of senior button play by defeating Uplands' Tom Whittemore and Ted Williams last week . . . And sure as syrup on a chocolate sundae, Dr. George Bigelow saved one of his best rounds of the year for Oak Bay's annual inter-club match with Seattle . . . He tossed a two-under 67 at them Sunday . . . Oak Bay, incidentally, won by 20 points

Veteran Bert Saxon and 16-year-old Ricky Kent play off next Sunday for Colwood's handicap championship. Saxon defeated Gorge Hay 5 and 4 Sunday, while Kent sidelined Irving Lonsdale, 3 and 1 . . . Cedar Hill's club championship also winds up next weekend with Bruce Timbres, who downed Murray Russell in the semifinal, playing George Bone in the final . . . Bone beat Dave Hammill in Sunday's other semi . . . Despite limitation by handicap, City Amateur continues to draw more than enough golfers . . . The limit's 99 . . . Draw, made Monday night, will be published later in the week.

Uplands Cup fell into Fred Billsborough's hands Sunday . . . The regular 36-hole medal on handicap event ended in a tie and Billsborough defeated Bill Merluk in Sunday's playoff . . . And it will be a long time before any women's team duplicates the winning low net score posted by Mrs. J. Fry and Shirley Fry Naysmith when the Gorge Vale pairing won the B.C. Parent-Child tournament at the weekend . . . Each woman entrant in the event, incidentally, had an extra six strokes tacked onto her handicap to compensate for the difference between men's and ladies' par . . . Add another hole-in-one: Don Stewart, the 14th, at Cedar Hill . . .

What everyone should know about
term insurance!

Term, or temporary, life insurance has many uses—but watch out for possible abuses.

Just as Fire Insurance pays only in the event of fire loss during the life of the policy, so Term Insurance pays only in the event of death before the term expires.

Often The Excelsior Life man will recommend Term Insurance—but only as a temporary coverage where the maximum amount of immediate protection is needed for the least amount of premium. And he endeavours to make certain that this temporary life insurance is converted into permanent personal policies as soon as the owner is able to do so.

There is no equity in Term Insurance which can carry the policy if a due date is missed, and none which builds future security for its owner.

We suggest that you talk to The Excelsior Life representative in your community. He has been selected and trained to help you with all your life insurance problems—and especially assist you to design your own "Blueprint for Security".

PATH OF ACCURACY

When you swing, let the club take an "inside-out" path. This will give your shot accuracy and will keep them on the straight and narrow. When you can't keep the ball from fading or slicing to the right, you're probably swinging from the "outside-in".

To see if your backswing is helping you develop this "inside-out" pattern on your downswing, look at your left wrist at the point of the backswing we illustrate today.

The back of your left hand should be facing directly away from you as the drawing shows at this point. If it is not, you should make sure you turn it so it resembles the illustrated form.

Practice this form for some time. It should work into your game naturally.

Three Players Bolster United

Victoria United players, as expected, dominate the city all-star team that will play England's touring Sheffield United at Royal Athletic Park next Monday.

If there is any surprise in the starting lineup proposed by manager Wally Milligan, it is the absence of two regulars with Victoria's Pacific Coast Soccer team.

Not included were winger Tommy Major and centre half Bob Mars.

CRABBE AT CENTRE

Milligan, who said regular attendance at practice was a factor in selecting the team, rounded out his squad with three performers from the District League. They are centre forward Chummy Crabbe, from league champion Gorge Hotel; fullback Gino Bressen of Hourigan's Kickers, and inside left Tom Lowrie of Brodies.

The balance of the team is basically the same lineup that

Do Dogs Develop Cavities?

No. Dogs are not victims of this human failing, largely because of their sweets-less diet.

CLINIC

Q—What makes our cat hold his ears down and act as if there is something in them? Does he have ear mites? We put warm olive oil in his ears and then, since that seemed to do no good, we swabbed his ears with an antiseptic. That didn't help either.

Mrs. A. T., Arivaca, Ariz.

A—It's impossible to determine without examination what traffic is travelling down your cat's ear canal. Fleas, mites and infection are three of many conditions which could be causing your cat trouble. Your veterinarian will be able to examine your pet's ear canal and diagnose the problem.

Q—Our female boxer, Nellie, 6 or 7 years old, spayed, is causing us worry. She has become decidedly overweight, although I have not increased her food. Could this be glandular?

Mrs. B. I. U., Victoria, B.C.

A—Lazy glands could cause this condition, but more likely it's Nellie, not the glands, that is slowing down. Older dogs like older people, take on weight more easily because they exercise less but eat as much or more even though their needs have decreased. Also, spayed animals have a tendency to add weight. Restrict the fats and carbohydrates in Nellie's diet, and give her more walking and exercise. This combination should restore her youthful figure. If it doesn't, have your veterinarian examine her.

Q—I have a white mouse that is developing a lump on his shoulder. Is there anything that can be done about it? Is it dangerous?

J. O. R. Jr., Scranton, Pa.

A—Tumors are common among mice. If it's a localized condition, it can be removed surgically by your veterinarian. However, the possibility of recurrence exists. A biopsy would be required to determine if your pet's growth is malignant or benign.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astrin-gents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Fiery Object in Sky Identified as Meteor

IN A CEREMONY dating from the middle ages, president of the graduating class of Victoria College, Howard Lim, is symbolically invested with the degree of Bachelor of Arts by the Chancellor of UBC, Dr. Phyllis Ross. Looking on is retiring UBC president, Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, who draped bachelor's hood over the shoulders of each graduate.

COLLEGE CONGREGATION

Centennial Medal For City Scholar

Howard Lim, president of the second graduating class of Victoria College, was presented with the Centennial Medal and Centennial Scholarship of $100 by Mayor R. B. Wilson during the annual congregation on Monday.

An audience of some 450 in the auditorium of the Gordon Head campus saw 71 members of the second graduating class in the college's history knell before University British Columbia chancellor Phyllis Ross to be touched on the head with a mortar board symbolizing the bestowal of the bachelor's degree.

Rising, the students bowed to the chairman of the college council, Judge J. B. Clearihue, and received their bachelor's hoods from retiring UBC president N. A. M. MacKenzie. They were given their degree diplomas by the registrar, Miss Dorothy Cruickshank.

Main speaker of the ceremony, Dr. MacKenzie, urged the college to continue in its development "the best liberal arts college in Canada," but said he did not think it mattered whether it became a distinct university or not.

INDEPENDENT SPIRIT

Dr. Ross also spoke at the ceremony and praised the independent and intellectual spirit of those responsible for the college's growth.

During a luncheon which preceded the congregation, honors psychology student Diane Robertson gave the valedictory address. The luncheon, to which Dr. and Mrs. MacKenzie were invited, was held in Holyrood House.

Howard Lim, Peter Stockdill, Dale Irvine and Wick Wilson were presented academic awards at this function.

A giant fireball cast an eerie glow over the Pacific Northwest Monday night, jamming Victoria switchboards and causing temporary panic at a Vancouver baseball game.

Hundreds of calls jammed switchboards of local newspapers and radio and television stations at about 10:45 p.m., reporting an object which a spokesman for the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory later identified as a giant meteor.

Most observers described the object as a large, multi-colored ball with a long tail of smoke and flame. Burning pieces flaked off as the object sped in a southeasterly direction.

Most saw the fireball for about 15 seconds before it lost itself in clouds.

BRIGHT BURSTS

The observatory described it as "white and brilliant" as the brightest star. There was a string of four to six bright bursts at intervals."

Officials explained the fact that the object was reported in B.C., Alberta, Washington and Idaho by pointing out that meteors, in addition to being high in the upper atmosphere, travel at an average speed of 20 miles per second.

RAN FOR COVER

The most spectacular reaction to the object came at a Vancouver baseball game between Vancouver and Portland.

Fans in the third-base bleachers at Capilano Stadium were the first to spot it, and they cried out in panic. The players looked up and then ran for cover, along with the umpires, into the dugout.

A reporter at the game said the players thought the fireball was headed for the stadium. Play resumed after it flashed out of sight.

The object was sighted by Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Whitmore of Sidney at about 10:45 while driving home.

BALL OF FIRE

"We saw it just past Royal Oak," said Mr. Whitmore, "and I stopped the car to look. First we thought it was plane, but as it got closer it looked like a ball of fire."

"Then it started to scale off flakes of fire as it headed southeast, towards Seattle. I guess we saw it for about 15 seconds before it disappeared in the clouds."

Research scientist Frank Hughes of North Surrey, who says that he has observed about 200 meteors, called this "the biggest one I have ever seen."

"It was on a 20-degree angle from the earth, about 10 degrees in width and traversed about 30 degrees in five seconds," said Mr. Hughes, who did meteor work with the British Astronomical Association.

"It was glowing with a white brightness like a magnesium flare," he stated. "The different portions of it glowed with varying intensity."

PERRAULT:

B.C.'s Economy Needs Liberals

By AB KENT

A Liberal government in Ottawa is important to the economy of B.C. and could speed recovery of the national economy, provincial Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said Monday.

Speaking in support of Victoria federal candidate Foster Isherwood at Oaklands School, Mr. Perrault said for one thing the Columbia River project would be aided.

And improved trade relations with the U.S. could be proposed on the basis of lowered tariffs—as suggested by President Kennedy—for electrically-manufactured goods from Canada.

The North Vancouver member of the legislature said the Liberal party is the only one with a plan.

It covers trade, international affairs, social security, education and the European Common Market, he said.

BEST RECOVERY

"A Liberal federal government produced the best post-war recovery program in the world," Mr. Perrault told an audience of 50.

"There is demonstrated ability by Liberal governments. It can be done again; it has to be done again," he said.

He noted that despite the prime minister's claim that unemployment has been reduced, it still stands in B.C. at more than 7 per cent, or some 45,000 men.

Mr. Perrault reminded his listeners of a statement made by Mr. Diefenbaker prior to his election in 1957.

He said the ground-swell of Conservative popularity began in Victoria, and it was here or in Vancouver that the prime minister made the statement:

"So long as I am prime minister, no one will be allowed to suffer privation through unemployment in this country."

Many had since been thrown into idleness, lost their homes and suffered other hardships, the speaker said.

Today's unemployment—more than double what "the economists say" is effective full employment with 3.4 per cent out of work—is the "worst since the R. B. Bennett Conser-

No More Confidence In Dief-St. Laurent

QUEBEC (CP) — Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit party, said Monday night the Liberal party is trying to divide the electorate with religious propaganda.

Mr. Thompson told a campaign rally at suburban Ste. Foy that former Liberal transport minister Lionel Chevrier recently accused Social Credit of talking about "encycyclicals in Quebec" and "about the Bible" in Western Canada "where the Catholics don't have a chance."

"This is the kind of poppycock . . . slander they're throwing at us, trying to divide us when the last provincial by-election in Alberta was won by a man born in Quebec."

He added that Quebec Liberals also were saying there are no roads in Alberta.

"They'll get nowhere with this sort of thing," he said.

Mr. Thompson speaking entirely in English for about 40 minutes, then said children's allowances "stop where they should start" — when youths were about to start higher education.

Markets Slump But U.S. Economy Signs Bright

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Almost to a man leading U.S. economists in business, government and universities see their country's gross national product this year rising from an annual rate of $548 billion in the first quarter to $570 billion or better in the fourth.

By the second quarter of next year, according to a survey published in the latest issue of Business Week magazine, the GNP should be running at $585 billion.

This is the backdrop against which the worst market crash since 1929 must be assessed.

All the economic indicators still point upwards.

Business Condemned Attitude

The U.S. business community, almost unanimously, condemned this attitude.

Subsequently, the president has made several attempts to pacify business but the attempts have been total failures.

A presidential clamp on prices is construed as a clamp on profits and, of course, future profits are what the stock market is all about.

In actual fact, even without Kennedy's strictures, the prof-

ROBERT BONNER
blames sentimentality

Employment continues to rise and there is more disposable income in the hands of consumers than at any time in history.

Why the panic then?

There seems to be general agreement that lack of business confidence in the Kennedy administration is the root cause.

When Kennedy "disciplined" steel, the implication was apparent that he intended to take a strong stand on holding all prices down.

Canada's position in the rapidly changing world of trade was the focal point of the Monday afternoon session of the 11th annual meeting of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce in the Empress Hotel.

Robert Bonner, B.C.'s minister of trade and industrial development, led off when he suggested in a luncheon address that Canada would do well to think carefully and without emotion about the possibility of a customs union with the U.S.

PANEL AGREES

Later in the day a panel consisting of Dr. John Davis, former director of research and planning for the B.C. Hydro; Dean Neil Perry, faculty of commerce and business administration at the University of B.C., and Maurice P. Finnerty of Penticton, past president of the chamber, came to virtually the same decision in a panel discussion.

Mr. Bonner made the point that Canada had not at the present time any useful association in world trade blocs.

Tremendous attention had been focussed on the role of the United Kingdom in Canadian trade, despite the fact that United States was actually the trade statistics showed that the dominant factor in Canadian exports.

"By 1960, when our exports had reached the $800 million mark—no less than 63 per cent went to the U.S., 16 per cent went to the United Kingdom and 4.7 per cent went to the Common Market countries.

Sentimentality, Mr. Bonner said, was responsible for the fact that these important sta-

DRASTIC STOCK MARKET SLUMP ANALYZED

Panic Selling No 1929 Declare Brokers

NEW YORK (AP) — The ticker tape marched jerkily across the translucent screen in a Wall Street broker's office, telling a depressing story of one of the worst stock market slumps in recent years.

It was nearly 3:30 p.m.—closing hour on the New York Stock Exchange—and prices were at their lowest point of the day.

"Look at the tension on those faces," said a broker, surveying a crowd watching the tape.

"This definitely is not panic selling," comments Edwin Posner, chairman and president pro tem of the American Stock Exchange. "We have the federal investigation of the securities business, and this evidently was a time for adjustment. Stocks now are getting down to realistic levels."

The heads of the two biggest stock exchanges disagree with the idea that investors might have become paniced by the extended decline.

"What we are witnessing is a considerable change in their confidence," said Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

"The taut faces, multiplied by thousands in board rooms across the United States, reflected what many experts contend has caused the market slump.

To begin with, say brokers, imbued with enthusiasm for glamorous growth issues of the space age, drove stock prices to unrealistic heights. Many of these stocks failed to live up to expectations.

"A very basic readjustment of investment thinking is in progress," said White.

CITE STEEL SHOWDOWN

The epic battle between the Kennedy administration and the steel industry, in which the president forced steel executives to back down on a price increase, has been blamed for riddling the confidence of businessmen and small investors.

The market started its precipitous drop immediately after the steel industry capitulated last April with accusations that the administration was anti-business, although stocks had been going down for some months previously.

Broker Eldon Grimm of Walston and Company, expressed the opinion that "official Washington is a lot more worried about this (the market) than they let on. I think you will see some action—a bigger depreciation allowance, lowering of the 70-percent margin requirement, more spending on space and missiles—in the next 60 days."

However, President Kennedy has said he feels "the economy, which is moving steadily forward, is the best stimulant for the stock market....I believe that the market will move in accordance with the movement of the economy as a general rule."

tistics were not receiving the attention they deserved.

BIG INCREASE

Some form of freer trade with the U.S., he claimed, could lead in a few years to boosting the gross national product of Canada from $35 to $50 billion—an important consideration for a country which had just relinquished third place on the world's standard of living scale."

Expanding on the subject of closer trading relations with the U.S., following the luncheon, Mr. Bonner explained that the move would not harm Canada's political independence.

"In fact, it would strengthen it," he said, "because it would bolster Canada's economic power."

SLOW UNION

He said he envisaged a slow union which might, perhaps take 10 to 15 years.

A gradual series of agreements on elimination of tariffs on specific items could be made with co-operation to ensure protection of the labor forces of both countries.

Dr. Davis, Dean Perry and Mr. Finnerty were solidly in agreement in their panel discussion on trade that Canada could not take a "go it alone" line.

capital for investment and threatened this province's markets for grain, aluminum, lumber and fruit.

This was a problem which could not be solved by taking an isolationist attitude.

Firing Squad General Quits

PARIS (Reuters)—A French general disclosed Monday night he was retiring from the army rather than pick the firing squad for the execution of a fellow general who served as No. 2 man of the terrorist Secret Army Organization.

Gen. Francois Partiot, 55, told a reporter he had successfully sought early retirement because he was ordered to detail the firing squad for condemned former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, the Secret Army's deputy leader.

Could Be Long, Bitter Fight

Where is the bottom? No one knows yet.

At some point the prices will become irresistible to the big investors but no one in the investment business today is willing to predict where that point lies.

There is a feeling that until Kennedy reverses his field on price controls and makes it clear that the government will not attempt to tamper with the freedom of business to operate in traditional fashion, the stock market will continue to falter.

EX-LEADER WINS STANDING OVATIONS

Sask. Doctors 'Blackmailed' Into Silence Says Coldwell

BY FRANK RUTTER

Doctors in Saskatchewan who support the CCF government medical care plan are "blackmailed" into silence by highly paid colleagues who control their profession, M. J. Coldwell charged Monday night.

The 73-year-old former national leader won cheers and two standing ovations from a crowd of 250 at a New Democratic Party election meeting in Club Sirocco.

He said the NDP will "popularize" medical care as an election issue across the nation.

It's Inevitable

The issue — and eventual adoption of a national plan — is inevitable, he said. The NDP could do this if it wins the balance of power June 18.

He delivered a scathing indictment of what he called a group of "selfish" doctors who oppose the Saskatchewan scheme which goes in to effect July 1.

There are doctors in Saskatchewan who believe in the plan.

"Some of them are being blackmailed into remaining silent by the highly-paid, high-income doctors who control that profession in the province."

Highest Paid

Mr. Coldwell said doctors are the highest-paid group in Canada, the highest paid doctors are in Saskatchewan.

"They have an average—I will say reported—income of over $18,000 a year."

The doctors had "forced" the issue on Canada and the NDP was glad.

Mr. Coldwell predicted the result of the June 18 election could give the NDP the power to ensure it was put into effect.

"I do not believe either of the major parties' Liberals' purse.

GOV'T LOOKS 'RIDICULOUS'

Former CCF leader M. J. Coldwell said here Monday he is glad Canada is trading on credit with Communist China, but disappointed she still but disappointed she still recognition.

"If a finance company financed somebody it didn't know, had never heard of and didn't know existed, you'd think it was crazy," he said.

"The government of Canada is making itself ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

and Conservatives) will have a working majority. It will be close; the closer it is the better for the Canadian people."

Started Pension

With a balance of power, the NDP could do what it accomplished in 1926 when its balance, he said, forced Liberal Mackenzie King to start a pension plan.

"This is not a financial issue," he said. "This is not in the proper sense a political issue. This is a moral issue."

"I wish to heaven I could see my church or your church standing behind it."

Loud cheers burst from the crowd.

The doctors' opposition in Saskatchewan is a campaign of misrepresentation — it's anarchy."

"Put 'em in jail," cried a voice from the audience.

"From a group of educated men this is indeed a very grave indictment on society in a democracy," said Mr. Coldwell.

"Society has a right to demand for the people medical care on the basis of freedom from length of the individual's purse.

He said there were many false stories spread about failures of medical care in European countries.

"When you hear all these stories remember they are emanating from a selfish group of people who have control of the medical profession and are determined to have control of it in the future."

They Approve

Mr. Coldwell said that doctors in England approve of the national health scheme there.

It was true some doctors left England. "But percentage-wise more doctors leave Canada every year than Britain."

Mr. Coldwell said that when the B.C. Social Credit government legislated to prevent trade union members from contributing dues to a political party, workmen here didn't refuse to work as doctors threaten to refuse treatment in Saskatchewan.

"They said, 'When the time comes we're going to turn Bennett and all his works out of the legislature.'"

Wrong End

NDP candidate in Victoria, Harry Fanthorpe, told the meeting the Tories won a big victory in 1958 because Canadians wanted to back a winning horse — but they found they backed the wrong end of the horse."

Esquimalt-Saanich candidate Geoffrey Mitchell said that in 1957 and 1958 Canadians really believed they could have leadership with John Diefenbaker.

"He had us in the palm of his hand. He could ask us to pull in our belts and make us the greatest country in the world."

But the leadership is lacking today, he said.

Press Urged to Wait For Reports' Effect

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John suggested Monday that to what might be called the discipline of waiting when he feels that hasty presentation of a news item could generate grave damage to society and even graver damage to international relations.

The 80-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church, speaking at an audience for more than 100 delegates to a congress of the International Federation of Editors-in-Chief, said:

"Nothing is more noxious to society than the lie and the error that feeds distrust and misunderstanding among peoples."

This is why a conscientious editor knows how to impose on himself, for example, limits in the choice of a title headline.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

There is a business boom in Hell, says Collie Butts, who works at one of the service stations encircling our famous Roundabout.

Colin showed me a letter from Hell, Mich., which states that:

Hell will soon have its first motel.

Hell's chamber of commerce is already in business.

Hell's post office has put in a new substation.

The people of Hell have only one complaint—there are not enough road signs telling tourists where to go!

* * *

Some of the staff at Victoria's new Courthouse were started to see two policemen standing outside the Cherry Bank Hotel opposite.

They thought it was some kind of raid until one noticed that the policemen were wearing tall bobby helmets.

"Just another tourist stunt," he scoffed.

This was partly true, for the bobbies—Charles Tompkins and Paul Johnston—were giving a little "atmosphere" to a party organized by the hotel and motel operators of Vancouver Island for the purpose of discussing that big mystery man of 1962: The Tourist.

Guests from all parts of the Island were welcomed by Nick Renard, president of Victoria Hotel Association, and Mrs. Renard.

Two of them—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baldwin of Mayne Island—left home before 7 a.m. to get to the party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lynd came from North Pender Island and there were guests also from Duncan, Courtenay, and Nanaimo.

Quite a to-do!

ASK The TIMES

Q. How long does it take for the planet Venus to rotate on its axis? R.B.

A. Because they don't know what the actual surface of the planet Venus is like, scientists can only speculate as to its rate of rotation. Some say that Venus rotates once every 30 days, others believe (and this is the most popular theory) that its period of rotation is the same as that of its revolution—225 days.

Q. Is it considered proper for the mother of a student of the graduation class to wear a hat to a graduation ceremony held in the evening? J.D.

A. While it is not strictly correct to wear a hat in the evening, if the dress is to be informal, and you are taking no part in the actual ceremony, a hat may be worn.

Tennis Club Studying Big Expansion

Plans to construct a $100,000 addition to make Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club into a family recreation centre are being circulated to some 400 court enthusiasts.

President A. W. E. Pitkethley, who is also president of Victoria Squash Club, said it is hoped to draw both clubs into the project and double total membership to about 800 before starting the job in 1963.

A special general meeting will be held toward the end of June when the proposed program will be discussed in detail.

Meanwhile, members of the clubs are to fill out a questionnaire to help planners assess opinion on the proposal.

Architects Wade, Stockill and Armour have drawn sketches that include two new sets of men's and women's locker rooms, two squash courts with a shared gallery, new lounge, kitchenette, bar, view balcony and sun deck, modernized existing facilities, improved heating and a new office for secretary and manager.

The pageant confusion resulted when former centennial director Gerald Fowler and his wife were replaced by Sam Grogg, also of the Rogers company. Mr. Fowler's wife, Betty, had been hired to prepare the pageant script.

With a strawberry crop rapidly moving to the ripening stage, an "SOS" was sounded today by the National Employment Service for registration of pickers.

Officials of the NES farm labor unit said they want pickers to get their names down in the books so they can get some idea of how many people will be available to work on the farms.

Last year NES placed 1,700 pickers on South Vancouver Island farms.

Growers said today this year's berries are going to be first class and the crop a big one.

Picking will start in about a week's time, they said, but the crop won't reach its peak until June.

Cake Plate, Cookie Jar Will Thrill New Bride

By PENNY SAVER

How is that scrapbook coming along? The one you are keeping of Penny's suggestions for shower gifts and wedding presents? Surely you aren't just letting all my inspirations be wrapped around the garbage? Well, perhaps you are at that, but Penny will never give up! Here are some more ideas that might appeal to you.

There are cake plates and then there are cake plates, but ones I saw during a hunting expedition the other day were a little different. With each plate there was a cake server, also of china and with the same floral pattern on the handle as was on the rim of the cake plate. Price for the set was $2.29.

Whether or not the bride will be able to bake cookies matters little if you give her one of the cookie jars I saw yesterday. Jars come in many shapes and can be purely decorative. They are also perfect cover-ups for store-bought cookies!

There is one which resembles a coffee grinder, another like an oaken basket and still another the image of an old brass tea kettle. There are golden yellow or rosy red apple-shaped jars and a rectangular one made to imitate a picnic basket. Each sells for $3.49.

Lovely amethyst glassware on display in one store also caught Penny's attention. There are tall, wide-mouth vases, a large cake plate and a large fruit bowl, each for $1.79.

Tumblers about eight inches high sell for 35 cents apiece as do smaller glasses with wider mouths.

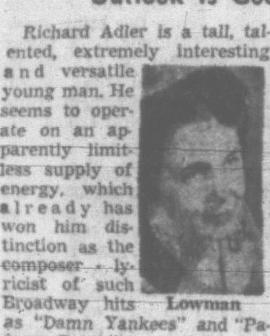

There are also smart looking ashtrays in same glass and small dishes suitable for pickles or celery, each for only 99 cents.

That scrapbook needs the names of the stores in which Penny shopped. Call me at EV 2-3131 for the information.

Richard Adler's Optimistic Outlook Is Good for Us All

Richard Adler is a tall, talented, extremely interesting and versatile young man. He seems to operate on an apparently limitless supply of energy, which already has won him distinction as the composer-lyricist of such Broadway hits as "Damn Yankees" and "Pajama Game."

I was interested to learn that Mr. Adler is one of the most successful creators of advertising commercials. From him have come some of the most effervescent ones. He calls them "advertising-musical comedy."

In an impressive candle lit ceremony Mrs. Jeannie Clark was initiated as a new member.

DEAR ABBY . . .

He Wants a 'Mrs.'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After we were married, my wife talked me into letting her retain her maiden name because she was a school teacher and wanted to be known as Miss. This has created some embarrassing situations over the years. After 20 years, I have had it. She positively refuses to use my name and call herself Mrs. because, she says, it will confuse things in the school system where she has been known as Miss for so many years. What is your advice?

Dear Eunice:

Is it necessary to face the front seam for a zipper?"

Mrs. M. C.

Dear Mrs. M. C.:

By the word "facing" I imagine you mean seam tape.

Yes, I would recommend applying seam tape to the front seam before inserting the zipper. This is especially necessary for a side fastener because it will keep the curved seam from stretching. It will also assure ample seam allowance for the fastener.

National Defence Helped By IODE Education Plan

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Much remains to be done in planning for national survival in some areas of Canada, it was suggested Monday at the 62nd annual national convention of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

The report said the IODE is strengthening the national civil defence program with educational services.

Mrs. H. G. Chant of Toronto, secretary of the order's national executive committee, told the conference that Madame Vanier, wife of Governor-General Georges Vanier, had consented to remain honorary president of the IODE during her husband's tenure of office.

Mrs. Chant also said Princess Alice would continue to represent the order in the United Kingdom.

Mrs. John Hurst of Toronto, the order's home and abroad secretary, said the IODE raised nearly $418,000 for welfare work last year.

She said 75 per cent of this had been used for welfare work in Canada, while families in Korea, Jordan, Hong Kong, Greece, Italy and India also benefited.

The head of the order's democratic action committee suggested the IODE step up its work to halt expansion by Communists.

Mrs. C. M. Martin of Toronto, said in a speech read by Mrs. D. W. McGibbon of Toronto, second vice-president of the national order, that the democratic action committee, formed five years ago to "promote knowledge, understanding and awareness of the menace of communism," operates an information service called the "alert service" which regularly publishes pamphlets on Communist activities in Canada.

The meeting began Saturday and ends Wednesday. Business sessions started Monday.

Hundreds of bright-colored balloons and multi-colored streamers against the ceiling and replicas of Victoria's famed lamp standards with baskets filled with fresh flowers in college colors of blue and gold, placed at intervals around the large floor, set the stage, Monday evening, for the Victoria College graduation ball held in the auditorium on the Gordon Head campus.

Balloons were released later in the evening.

CABARET STYLE

The ball, arranged to honor the graduating class of 1962, was in cabaret style, with tables centred with flowers and lighted candles. It was sponsored by the Alumni Association of the University of British Columbia (Victoria College).

Dancing was from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., to the music of Len Acres and his orchestra. The musicians, all of whom wore mortar boards for the occasion, played on a dais banked with fresh flowers.

Receiving line included Dr. Phyllis Ross, CBE, Chancellor of the University; Hon. Frank Mackenzie Ross, Mayor; R. B. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, Judge J. B. Clearihue and Mrs. Clearihue, Dr. and Mrs. N. A. M. MacKenzie, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman and Mr. and Mrs. David Ferne.

Patrons for the ball were His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. George R. Pearkes, Mayor and Mrs. W. R. Curtis and Mrs. T. C. Hamilton, reservations; Mr. Maurice Johnson, lighting; and Mr. H. A. Wallace and Mr. Courtney Haddock, ex-officio.

Meat Inspection, New Abattoirs Here Within Months, CAC Told

Members of the Victoria Branch, Consumers Association of Canada, were told Monday at a meeting in the Public Library Music Room that starting June 1 there will be inspection of all local meat by a veterinary inspector under the direction of Dr. J. F. Kidd, chief provincial veterinary inspector.

All the meat will be brought into the depot on Store Street at stated times each day.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, convenor of the group's meat inspection committee, also reported that new abattoirs to meet the specification of the federal government are expected to be in operation

Oct. 1. With the operation of these abattoirs, Victoria will be declared a provincial meat inspection area.

The proposed abattoirs will mean that an inspector will be on hand full time to inspect the animals both before and after slaughter. Such an inspector will be fully qualified with a complete knowledge of animal diseases.

IN NIGERIA

Women Business Tycoons

EDMONTON (CP)—Women business tycoons and millionaires aren't unusual in Nigeria, says the wife of the former governor-general of the newly independent African nation.

Lady Robertson, travelling in Canada with her husband, Sir James Robertson, on a speaking tour, said it's traditional for Nigerian women to run the markets—"acres and acres of them"—and to set prices and corner industry.

She knows of one woman in real estate who owns apartment blocks. Another was representative of an oil company and a third represented tobacco interests.

The women fly up and down the country to look after their financial interests, she said, adding that they are a great political influence.

OTHER GUESTS

Among others attending the ball were Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Forward, Prof. and Mrs. G. Coulson, Dr. and Mrs. Gerhardt Friedman, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, Prof. and Mrs. R. H. Roy, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Greenwood, Mrs. E. Sylvester, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hind, Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Roberts, Col. and Mrs. A. D. Murdoch, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Flett, Mrs. C. S. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Main, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Johns, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Leeming, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Drummond and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Noble.

Special Cake

Members of the second graduating class of Victoria College had a special cake made for them by Mrs. A. Norris, head of the college cafeteria. The cake was iced in gold and blue, with decorative scrolls on the sides. A blue ribbon, outlined on the golden marzipan on top of the cake was iced with the names of all the graduates. It was cut at the graduation ball held in Gordon Head auditorium, on Monday evening, following the annual spring congregation in the afternoon.

Mrs. H. L. Gonnason and Mrs. H. C. Hartshorne are general conveners.

LOCAL THEMES

Businessmen Defaulting To Government

Personal freedom, and its inseparable partner, personal responsibility, are essential to Canada's survival as an independent nation, Leonard Hynes, president of Canadian Industries Ltd. of Montreal, told the annual banquet of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce Monday night in the Empress Hotel.

By default, Mr. Hynes said, business is leaving too many things to government to do, encouraging greater government participation in the economy than was either necessary or desirable.

SERIOUS TROUBLES

Something more than the ordinary ups and downs of business seemed to be wrong with Canada's economy, the speaker said. The gross national product is rising at a rate much less than that of a decaying, unemployment and idle plant capacity had been heavy for the past four years.

"These troubles may not constitute an economic crisis," Mr. Hynes said, "but they are serious."

Unfortunately, he claimed, the situation had led to calls for more government planning which should be rejected on two counts—first, there would be a degree of compulsion acceptable only as an emergency measure in time of crisis, and secondly, all full-scale planning efforts to date had led to failure.

NEW LOOK

What was needed, rather, Mr. Hynes said, was a re-examination of fundamentals.

"While seeking new policies to solve our domestic problems and protect our trading interests in a changing world," he said, "we must keep in mind that to solve our immediate difficulties with short-term remedies is not good enough. We must seek economic truths and examine our motives. Above all, we must avoid the pitfalls of political expediency."

SIMPLE TEST

"We should put all proposals to a simple test," he maintained.

"Do they help to maintain and encourage individual initiative or do they undermine and detract from it?"

"History and philosophy leave us in no doubt about the link between individual satisfaction and economic progress," said Mr. Hynes.

Reservations Centre Open To Victorians

Direct telephone or teletype connection with every major point in the Pacific Northwest is available for Victorians wishing to reserve accommodation before they travel.

Gearied to handle incoming calls from tourists desiring accommodation on the Island, Victoria's accommodation centre is equally capable of helping Victorians on a jaunt to somewhere else.

This is a local service," says co-ordinator of the centre Ian McCaul, "and there's no reason why our own people can't make use of it."

Already the centre is working to near capacity on incoming calls, even though the tourist season has just begun.

Local motels and hotels have more reservations for the time of year than ever before in history.

More Refugees Urged

Grit Chief Stays On Dief's Trail

Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson returns to B.C. Wednesday for his second federal election campaign sweep, hot on the heels of Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The Liberal leader has been following Mr. Diefenbaker across the West and party officials hope that he's picking up the enthusiasm which lagged at previous Tory meetings.

Mr. Pearson's first campaign foray into B.C. was early in May and his reception, while warm, was unspectacular.

But this time the Liberals are hoping to put the Tories to shame by striking at centres immediately after Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Pearson speaks in Edmonton tonight, where Mr.

Sask. Residents Launch Bids to Block Medicare

REGINA (CP) — Petitions plans for mass car cavalcades to Regina and a request for a court injunction Monday bespoke the opposition of some Saskatchewan residents to the medical-care plan.

Provincial Attorney-General R. A. Walker, meanwhile, attributed the opposition to a scare campaign by Saskatchewan doctors.

The government's comprehensive, compulsory medical-care plan is scheduled to go into operation July 1. The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, representing the 904 Saskatchewan doctors, has declared its opposition on the grounds of "government control."

The application for a court injunction was filed Monday in his office Wednesday. The committee was formed in Regina Sunday by a number of persons from major Saskatchewan centres.

CIRCULAR PETITIONS

Forty copies of a petition requesting delay were distributed to town business places by the Kamsack, Sask., Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. H. D. Dalgleish, president of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, said the college was considering provision of hospital-based emergency service in possibly 20 centres in the province after July 1.

PLAN CAVALCADES

She says in the claim she is apprehensive of the obligations upon herself which may result from her wrongful registration.

Plans to organize car cavalcades to drive to Regina and ask the government to delay implementation of the plan until the impasse with the doctors can be resolved were reported recently in several centres.

One cavalcade organizer said a 500-car group was expected to originate in Moose Jaw.

Premier Lloyd was asked to meet one of the cavalcades at the legislature building Wednesday. He did not immediately answer the request.

The premier did consent to meet representatives of a com-

HILLCREST DISPUTE*Mediator Named After Women Act

A B.C. labor department mediator has been appointed to attempt to settle the five-month-old Hillcrest Lumber Co. strike deadlock.

He was appointed by Labour Minister Leslie Peterson Monday after a delegation of four women, representing the wives of men idled by the dispute met with the minister.

Mr. Peterson said he considered the delegation of wives an official request for his department to enter into the dispute.

"I advised them that as a result of their request I would have an official in my department try to bring the parties together," said the minister.

FREE BUS ENDED

The dispute between Hillcrest Lumber Co. and loggers of the International Woodworkers of America union arose Jan. 2 when the firm discontinued its free bus service between Duncan and its Mesachie Lake operation.

Some 70 loggers did not return to work and have not returned since the bus service was discontinued.

The company has warned the loggers that unless they return to work they will have to close down the new mill due to a shortage of logs.

Too Many Favor Academic Courses Says UIC Official

GANGES—There is a reluctance on the part of students to take up vocational and technological studies and a tendency by parents to favor only academic courses, Joseph Sharples, special services supervisor of Unemployment Insurance Commission, told a PTA meeting here.

He said this has resulted in a shortage of trained technicians.

Jobs are disappearing due to automation, but there are not enough technology graduates to operate the machines responsible for loss of jobs," he said.

CANADA FIRST POLICY

PM Defends Power Pact

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

VERNON — The Canada-U.S. Columbia River treaty was vigorously defended Monday by both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton against charges it was a sellout of Canadian interests.

The charge was hurled at Diefenbaker by a heckler at a campaign rally here Monday night.

"The only sell-out is in the mind of the gentleman in the darkness over there," Diefenbaker retorted. "We have stood for Canadian interests. There will never be a sell-out as long as this government is in office."

The heckler shouted back, "You won't ratify the treaty."

The prime minister said the heckler was "in need of accurate information."

"I signed the treaty," he said, "after having been advised by the government of B.C. that its terms were acceptable. But in order to meet constitutional requirements there must be an agreement with the government of B.C. we are getting along in our negotiations."

"Our hope is that one of

DIEFENBAKER HERE TONIGHT

Local Conservatives were on the streets today soliciting an audience for tonight's Diefenbaker rally at Memorial Arena.

Loudspeaker trucks toured the downtown area announcing the meeting—which the Tories hope will be the "big" one of the federal election campaign in Victoria.

The prime minister was to arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 3 p.m., spend the early evening quietly at the Empress Hotel, and appear at the arena at 8:30 for his speech.

the first things the new parliament does is to proceed with ratification after reaching agreement with B.C."

Advantages Impossible Without Pact

In his statement at the meeting, Justice Minister Fulton said the treaty "brings tremendous advantages to Canada which we could not get without the treaty."

He made no direct reference to the charges by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, that Canada had been sold down the river under the treaty.

Fulton assured the audience

5,300 Cheer Pearson

By FRED CLEVERLEY
(Special to the Times)

Fifty-three hundred shouting, whistling, trumpet-playing, sign-carrying Liberal supporters cheered their party leader, Lester B. Pearson, in the Winnipeg Auditorium Monday as he delivered the longest and most vigorous speech of the election campaign.

It was the biggest political meeting in Winnipeg's recent history.

The crowd helped hoot down hecklers who attempted to interrupt the Liberal leader, and a one point carried away the partition separating the main auditorium and the concert hall, so that 800 people seated in the hall could see at least the back of the main speaker.

Auditorium ushers said later they had to turn away several hundred people.

REFUTES SMEARS

Mr. Pearson, obviously elated by the large crowd, declared there should be an end to smears on Liberal candidates by their opponents, and challenged Prime Minister Diefenbaker to answer a list of ten questions on Conservative policy and the program for the future.

Mr. Pearson said he had taken the precaution of sending, by registered mail, the same questions to Conservative headquarters, and asked for answers in the next two or three days. He said he was asking the questions because the prime minister had refused to debate with him on television.

The prime minister said he would not debate on television because he did not want to get me an audience," grinned Mr. Pearson, comparing his 5,300 supporters to the 4,200 the prime minister drew in the same auditorium last week.

QUESTIONS ASKED

"Well, someone got me an audience all right and it was not Mr. Diefenbaker—or was it?" he asked to a chorus of cheers.

Among the questions he put to the prime minister were:

Does the prime minister agree Canada needs 1,000,000 new jobs in the next four years, and that these can't be secured? If the present trends continue . . . ?

What is there in his second five-year plan that will create enough jobs, when his first five-year plan has failed to do so?

Is he satisfied when the average real income of Canadians is smaller than it was five years ago . . . ? When our share of world trade has declined? . . . When our dollar is worth 92 cents? . . .

Mr. Pearson asked for Conservative plans to rebuild confidence in the growth of

SACRAMENTAL WINE CUT OFF

Communicants 'Gulped'

CORBY, England (Reuters) — An Anglican bishop censured the minister of Corby Parish Church in Northamptonshire Monday for accusing his parishioners of "gulping down communion wine."

The minister, Rev. Arthur Westcott, 65, refused to finish serving his 70 communicants with wine on Easter Sunday when, he said, they gulped down two full chalices before he reached the last communicant.

The bishop, the Rt. Rev. Cyril Eastaugh, after conducting communion himself at Corby, said Monday that Mr. Westcott's action in withholding communion had caused "grave hurt and distress." He denied that the congregation had finished off two chalices full.

Mr. Westcott retorted later: "I will not apologize. The excess consumption on Easter Sunday was an awful experience."

I have been serving communion wine for 40 years, so I know what should be drunk. There is no doubt that the 70 communicants took far more than they should."

AFTER BIG MONDAY CRASH

Markets Show Signs of Rally

Canadian Exchanges Recover

SOVIETS VIEW CRASH AS BLOW AT WORKERS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass said today the stock crash in New York had "assumed catastrophic proportions."

"President Kennedy and his advisers would like to arrest the crash but they do not know how to do it," Tass said.

The report accused "certain circles" in the United States of "trying to use the stock market situation as a pretext for a new onslaught on the rights of the working class."

Bargain Hunters Help Out

NE WYORK (AP) — The stock market partially recovered late this afternoon from the worst plunge since 1929.

But whether it could press the comeback further was anybody's guess. Heavy trading and an extremely late tape made it difficult to chart the market's progress.

Today's volume of selling exceeded anything in Wall Street history to date. Near the close of trading it was estimated that the day's turnover would be 12,000,000 shares compared with 9,550,000 on Monday.

Signs of recovery started popping up shortly after noon.

Late this afternoon badly battered International Business Machines held a $26 gain for the day. American Telephone turned a $2.12 loss into a $6.37 advance. Du Pont added $7.50, Polaroid $4.50, Sears Roebuck $4.12 and Jersey Standard $4.62.

BUYERS SEEK BARGAINS

Bargain hunters appeared to have started buying the badly depressed blue chips.

Trading volume soared to record heights and the ticker tape fell 96 minutes behind transactions.

IBM opened late in the afternoon in a $10,950,000 block, one of the largest with in the memory of Wall Street veterans. The transaction involved a block of 30,000 shares at $365 a share, up $4 from Monday's close.

The trade, which came nearly four hours after dealings for the day began on the exchange, was delayed to permit matching of a flood of buy and sell orders.

Earlier almost the entire field of prices had melted rapidly as selling ballooned beyond the massive volume of Monday—highest in 20 years.

The panicky desire to get rid of stocks swept across the United States, ignoring all accounts of good business.

Commerce Secretary Hodges urged the U.S. government to take "positive action rather than words" to restore confidence.

SEEMS TAX CHANGE

He proposed a tax overhaul and an early announcement of a revision of depreciation schedules.

In Washington, Treasury Secretary Dillon said after a conference with President Kennedy that "we don't see buy and sell orders."

In Copenhagen, the Geophysical Laboratory picked up Russian radio conversations—although parks officials won't estimate how much.

The charge will contribute a hefty boost to provincial revenues—although parks officials won't estimate how much.

DISCOURAGE HOGS

It will discourage the camp hog, who in the past has set up his tent in an area and remained there for the summer, the province.

He said the main reason for the charge is to encourage campers to visit all parks in the province.

In Tokyo's Stock Exchange closed with a moderate but broad decline after an early selling rush.

SIGNALS HINT MAJOR SOVIET SPACE FLIGHT

BONN, West Germany (Reuters) — Reports from scientists here and in Denmark indicate today the Soviet Union may have launched a major space flight.

A court martial was convened late today to consider sentencing of Major William Allen Pratt, earlier found guilty on charges in connection with the illegal movement of gold in Indochina. Maximum sentence for the crime is dismissal in disgrace and imprisonment.

The trial, which came nearly four hours after dealings for the day began on the exchange, was delayed to permit matching of a flood of buy and sell orders.

In Tokyo's Stock Exchange closed with a moderate but broad decline after an early selling rush.

Everywhere the story was the same. Low-yield growth stocks and varieties of American canners took the heaviest hammering.

The decline in Paris averaged three to four points, with some of the hardest-hit shares going down as much as seven or eight per cent.

In London, a mid-day rally failed to last and the decline continued. Such international favorites as Unilever and Phillips Lamps were 10 shillings ($1.53) or so lower.

Hundreds of millions of pounds were wiped off the value of shares in London.

Prices gyrated wildly on the major exchanges of Switzerland and West Germany.

The Zurich Stock Exchange

had its biggest drop since the stock prices, which have had a

1929 crash but there was a steady decline since the start substantial recovery at mid-year, dropped sharply.

Volkswagen, which dropped Monday to a new low of 552, was bid between 545 and 510.

... HERE ... AND THERE

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

There is a business boom in Hell, says Collin Butts, who works at one of the service stations encircling our famous Roundabout.

Collin showed me a letter from Hell, Mich., which states that:

Hell will soon have its first motel.

Hell's chamber of commerce is already in business.

Hell's post office has put in a new substation.

The people of Hell have only one complaint—there are not enough road signs telling tourists where to go!

Some of the staff at Victoria's new Courthouse were startled to see two policemen standing outside the Cherry Bank Hotel opposite.

They thought it was some kind of raid until one noticed that the policemen were wearing tall bobby helmets.

"Just another tourist stunt," he scoffed.

This was partly true, for the bobbies—Charles Tompkins and Paul Johnston—were giving a little "atmosphere" to a party organized by the hotel and motel operators of Vancouver Island for the purpose of discussing that big mystery man of 1962: The Tourist.

Guests from all parts of the Island were welcomed by Nek Renard, president of Victoria Hotel Association, and Mrs. Renard.

Two of them—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baldwin of Mayne Island—left home before 7 a.m. to get to the party.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lynd came from North Pender Island and there were guests also from Duncan, Courtenay and Nanaimo.

Quite a to-do!

This Thursday (Ascension Day) has been declared Non-Smokers' Day throughout British Columbia.

Premier Bennett and his cabinet will set the shining example since only one of them smokes. Who?

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Victoria men will be among 16,500 soldiers training at Western Command camps this summer, the most active army training season since the end of the Second World War.

First Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry from Victoria will go to Camp Wainwright June 15 for six weeks of summer manoeuvres.

With them will be the 1st Battalion Royal Welsh Fusiliers of the British Army, who are being flown from England for the summer.

Local chapter of the Royal Canadian College of Organists held its annual meeting recently for presentation of annual reports and election of officers.

Eric Edwards was elected chairman; Hugo Spilker, vice-chairman; J. Ingram Smith, secretary; Herman Bergink, treasurer; Ann Van der Voort, membership; Mrs. H. Ashby and Mrs. P. Hewitt, social conveners.

A fuel truck caught fire while unloading gasoline at Butler Brothers' gravel pit on Keating Cross Road shortly after 9 this morning, leaving the truck a total wreck and the driver uninjured. Over 1,000 gallons of gasoline and diesel oil were lost.

Foam poured on the burning truck by Central Saanich fire department proved to be insufficient, and the truck had to be buried in gravel to smother the blaze.

The fire started in the engine area from a failure in the electrical system.

A 17-year-old Saanich girl who left home after a disagreement a week ago was found by police in Nanaimo Monday and returned to Victoria.

She is Wanita "Johnnie" Playle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Playle, 4140 Grange. She left home last Tuesday.

City detectives Raymond G. Maitland returned here Monday after undergoing an intensive 10-week training course at the RCMP college in Regina.

Tennis Club Studying Big Expansion

Plans to construct a $100,000 addition to make Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club into a family recreation centre are being circulated to 460 court enthusiasts.

President A. W. E. Pitkethley, who also is president of Victoria Squash Club, said it is hoped to draw both clubs into the project and double total membership to about 800 before starting the job in 1963.

A special general meeting will be held toward the end of June when the proposed program will be discussed in detail.

SURVEY

Meanwhile, members of the clubs are to fill out a questionnaire to help planners assess opinion on the proposal.

Architects Wade, Stockill and Armour have drawn sketches that include two new sets of men's and women's locker rooms, two squash courts with a shared gallery, new lounge, kitchentette, bar, sun balcony and sun deck, modernized existing facilities, improved heating and a new office for secretary and manager.

The L-shaped building would be on three levels on north and west sides of the existing badminton hall.

Centennial Pageant 'Still On'

Most of the fog surrounding Victoria's centennial celebrations was blown away today as officials announced the big historical pageant is still on.

Glyn Jones, chairman of the Centennial Celebrations Society, announced from a meeting of the directors the pageant will definitely take place as scheduled in Royal Athletic Park July 28-Aug. 4.

Mr. Jones said a public meeting will be held toward the end of June when the proposed program will be discussed in detail.

SURVEY

"We'll let people know what's going on," he said. "All the details will be released at that time."

The pageant confusion resulted when former centennial director Gerald Fowler and his wife were replaced by Sam Grögg, also of the Rogers company. Mr. Fowler's wife, Betty, had been hired to prepare the pageant script.

Alert Sounded For Pickers By Job Office

With a strawberry crop rapidly moving to the ripening stage, an "SOS" was sounded today by the National Employment Service for registration of pickers.

Officials of the NES farm labor unit said they want pickers to get their names down in the books so they can get some idea of how many people will be available to work on the farms.

Last year NES placed 1,700 pickers on South Vancouver Island farms.

Growers said today this year's berries are going to be first class and the crop a big one.

Picking will start in about a week's time, they said, but the crop won't reach its peak until June.

COMPILATED

In defence of the oil companies, D. H. MacAllan, manager of the Pacific region for Imperial Oil Ltd., stated the problem of pricing was both complex and complicated and was one which gave great concern to the companies.

The difficulty involved in basing prices on cost of production was that because refining is a joint product effort, it was not possible to state exactly what each of the various products involved cost.

AGENCY OF HOUSE

The convention also defeated three resolutions seeking changes in the development of Columbia River power and, instead, adopted a resolution urging that the B.C. Energy Board be made an agency of the legislature rather than the government.

Earlier the group passed without debate and unanimously three resolutions critical of the government's action in expropriating the B.C. Electric.

Sound Screen

He travels by car, and uses a circular sound screen to trap distant sounds.

"It calls for a good deal of patience and waiting, but I find the work fascinating," says tall, quiet-spoken Dr. Gunn.

Assisting him on his B.C. researches is Mrs. H. M. S. Bell of Victoria Natural History Society, who has herself recorded many Victoria songsters.

Last week he visited Miracle Beach with York Edwards, nature interpreter with the B.C. recreation department, and identified no less than 90 different species in this area.

Dr. Gunn will also do some preliminary field work with Freeman King, of the Victoria Natural History Society.

"It seems an extraordinary thing that a policeman can go out on his own time to work and still wear the uniform," he told the commission.

Own Language

Do birds have a language? Yes, says Dr. Gunn. The singing bird advertises himself to other birds of the same kind. He warns the males to keep out of his domain and invites the females to come in. He is constantly on guard against predators and his warning calls are recognized by birds of other species.

"One of the most expressive birds is the prairie loon, but the crows and jays have a loud call."

Police Chief John Blackstock and Commissioner William Hamilton said it would be in the commission minutes.

"Well, so long as it's under control and done only with the chief's permission . . ." said Mayor Wilson.

But he added that he wished to see the relevant minutes at the next meeting.

EQUALIZED GAS PRICE DEFEATED

Heated Debating At Chamber Meet

An attempt to secure endorsement by the B.C. Chamber of Commerce for equalized gasoline prices throughout the province was hotly debated before going down to defeat at the annual meeting today in the Empress Hotel.

A resolution was introduced by Alex Clark, delegate from the Prince George Chamber of Commerce, which would have had the group ask for a royal commission to study the feasibility of placing the petroleum industry under the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

Mr. Clark amended this to call on the oil companies in B.C., within three months, voluntarily to equalize their prices with failure to comply resulting in the request for a royal commission.

Mr. Clark cited a recent government report giving prices of gasoline in various areas, pointing out particularly that Fort Nelson residents paid 61 cents a gallon compared with 54.7 cents in Prince George, despite the fact that Fort Nelson was 35 miles closer to the refinery at Taylor.

SAME COST

He also made the point that while Prince George was much closer to the supply of natural gas than Vancouver, equalized prices were in effect and the cost of natural gas was the same in both places.

Cyril Shelford, MLA for Omineca, also a delegate to the convention, said he had initiated the drive for equalization of gasoline prices in the legislature a year ago. Since then he had received the support of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, the Farmers' Institute and the majority of northern chambers of commerce.

Since then he had received the support of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association, the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, the Farmers' Institute and the majority of northern chambers of commerce.

When it came to a vote at the meeting, however, only the Prince George delegates voted in favor.

Mr. Shelford charged the gasoline prices, "by the oil companies' own admission," were based not on cost of production but on "what the traffic will bear."

START ELSEWHERE

Maurice Finnerty of Penticton, opposing the move, said that if prices were going to be controlled there were more basic places to start than with gasoline.

"But if we do start asking for controlled prices," he warned, "we are going to so-called industry in B.C."

"And if we are going to abandon the philosophy of free enterprise in this chamber," he added, "then we need a lot of economic education."

Prince George delegate Charles Lees claimed that prices of food, housing and other commodities were already equalized in the province and said he could see no reason why other areas should be "subsidizing" lower mainland motorists.

TOURING B.C.

This record, "Prairie Spring," is a symphony of bird life in Manitoba—and it is a fair sample of what we can expect when Dr. Gunn takes his highly sensitive transistor recorder on a tour of British Columbia.

Song birds of Victoria and Vancouver Island will be included. Dr. Gunn has already captured the fulsome notes of the English skylark at Gordon Head and he will make more recordings soon at Thomas Francis Park and Goldstream Park.

But it will be another two years before anyone hears the B.C. bird symphony. Dr. Gunn is a slow selective worker and only about 5 per cent of the sounds he records are used on the finished product.

In this same patient way he has recorded the thrushes, wrens and mockingbirds of Ontario and the songsters of Venezuela, South America.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

James S. Begg, 250 Linden,

$35 for careless driving.

James S. Nuttall, 745 Queens, $10 for inadequate muffler.

Gordon R. Pedersen, 6332 Central Saanich, $10 for inadequate muffler.

Frank Polito, 1205 Tillim-cum, $20 for over 30.

Einar A. Larson, 460 Gorge Road East, $25 for speeding over 30.

SEARCH BUDS

The 160-man group then began a thorough search of the bushes and wooded parts of Beacon Hill Park.

But at 4 p.m., after the navy men had thoroughly searched the area time and again, there was still no trace of the boy.

The search was then called off.

Park officials and police searched the various borders of water in the park but nothing was found.

CHECKED DOCKS

This morning detectives and juvenile officers checked out some sightings and searched

Ogden Point docks.

One boy told police he had been Peter at the docks on Sunday afternoon but his description of the boy's clothing didn't tally with that given police by the boy's mother,

Mrs. Barbara Woycheskin.

She said he was wearing a ported by suspenders and running shoes when he left home.

Mayor Bears Down On 'Moonlighting'

Mayor R. B. Wilson today

raised his eyebrows over city police practice of carrying out off-duty private assignments in police uniform.

He raised the subject at a

Sharp Recovery Seen at Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market recovered sharply at the close of heavy trading today from the frantic selling wave that launched prices down Monday and this morning.

On index, industrials advanced 5.27 at 563.23, as golds slipped 1.09 at 90.29. Base metals gained 3.37 at 190.65, while western oils rose .68 at 97.17.

Final volume was 4,966,000 shares compared with the 3,503,000 shares traded Monday.

At the close of trading industrials had erased earlier losses and climbed to the plus side.

Algoma Steel, Aluminium, Distillers Seagrams and Steel Company of Canada all rose in one point to 1½-point range after earlier touching 1962 lows.

Toronto-Dominion bank, Trans-Canada Pipe Line and Walker-Gooderham all revived from their lowest prices this year to show one-point gains at the close.

In base metals International Nickel advanced three points to 69. It earlier hit a 1962 low of 64½. Falconbridge rose 1½ and Noranda 1½, while Hudson Bay Mining jumped 4½ to 53.

Among western oils Pacific Petroleum gained ½, Home B ½ and Home A ½. Calgary and Edmonton dipped ½.

TAPE CATCHES UP
The ticker tape, which had been running as much as 25 minutes behind in the morning selling, drew abreast of transactions.

Key issues turned around and steamed upward as abruptly as they had dropped off on the Montreal exchanges.

Although volume tapered off from the early hectic pace shortly before noon, trading remained heavy.

The noon volume at Toronto was 1,973,000 shares compared with 1,200,000 at the same time Monday.

Many issues were still sharply lower, but almost all of them had recovered from the lows reached in the morning selling climax.

HIT NEW LOWS

Earlier, many key stocks hit new lows for the year.

Traders in Montreal described the activity on the trading floor as the most hectic in memory as senior issues took losses ranging from $3.50 to $1.25 a share.

Erik Klerans, president of the Montreal and Canadian exchanges, said "there is absolutely no reason for a drastic decline in the price of Canadian stocks."

"We are entering a more competitive but still expansionist phase of our history. With appropriate government policies, business leadership in Canada can provide continuing growth which is the basis for sound stock values."

PM Defends Power Pact

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa-Bureau

VERNON — The Canada-U.S. Columbia River treaty was vigorously defended Monday by both Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Justice Minister Fulton against charges it was a sellout of Canadian interests.

The charge was hurled at Diefenbaker by a heckler at a campaign rally here Monday night.

"The only sell-out is in the mind of the gentleman in the darkness over there," Diefenbaker retorted. "We have stood for Canadian interests. There will never be a sell-out as long as this government is in office."

The heckler shouted back: "You won't ratify the treaty."

The prime minister said the heckler was "in need of accurate information."

"I signed the treaty," he said, "after having been advised by the government of B.C. that its terms were acceptable. But in order to meet constitutional requirements there must be an agreement with the government of B.C. we are getting along in our negotiations."

"Our hope is that one of

Advantages Impossible Without Pact

In his statement at the meeting, Justice Minister Fulton said the treaty "brings tremendous advantages to Canada which we could not get without the treaty."

Fulton assured the audience—which received his statement with approval—that the objective of the federal government is to get agreement on the development with the B.C. government for "completion of the treaty."

As a result of the most recent discussions between B.C. and federal officials, he said: "I believe we may have established the foundation on which we can resolve our differences."

He made no direct reference to the charges by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, that Canada had been sold down the river under the treaty.

Fulton assured the audience—which received his statement with approval—that the objective of the federal government is to get agreement on the development with the B.C. government for "completion of the treaty."

SIGNALS HINT MAJOR SOVIET SPACE FLIGHT

BONN, West Germany (Reuters) — Reports from scientists here and in Denmark indicated today the Soviet Union may have launched a major space flight.

The Bonn Observatory reported receiving signals on frequencies 19,995 and 19,997 megacycles, which the Soviet Union has used for spaceships in the past. The observatory said voices also could be heard.

In Copenhagen, the Geophysical Laboratory picked up Russian radio conversations and a spokesman said it may indicate a Soviet space attempt is underway.

HILLCREST DISPUTE

Mediator Named After Women Act

A B.C. labor department mediator has been appointed to attempt to settle the five-month-old Hillcrest Lumber Co. strike deadlock.

He was appointed by Labor Minister Leslie Peterson Monday after a delegation of four women, representing the wives of men idled by the dispute met with the minister.

Mr. Peterson said he considered the delegation of wives an official request for his department to enter into the dispute.

"I advised them that as a result of our request I would have an official in my department try to bring the parties together," said the minister.

FREE BUS ENDED

The dispute between Hillcrest Lumber Co. and loggers of the International Woodworkers of America union arose Jan. 2 when the firm discontinued its free bus service between Duncan and its Mesachie Lake operation.

Some 70 loggers did not return to work and have not done so since the bus service was discontinued.

The company has warned the loggers that unless they return to work they will have to close down the new mill due to a shortage of logs.

Too Many Favor Academic Courses Says UIC Official

GANGES—There is a reluctance on the part of students to take up vocational and technological studies and a tendency by parents to favor only academic courses, Joseph Sharples, special services supervisor of Unemployment Insurance Commission, told a PTA meeting here.

He said this has resulted in a shortage of trained technicians.

"Jobs are disappearing due to automation, but there are not enough technology graduates to operate the machines responsible for loss of jobs," he said.
